Japan Renewable Energy Corporation

Notice of Change in Shareholder

ENEOS Corporation (“ENEOS”; Katsuyuki Ota, President) and a limited liability company owned by ENEOS today completed the acquisition of all shares in Japan Renewable Energy Corporation (“JRE”). As a result of this transaction, JRE has become a subsidiary of ENEOS.

There will be no change in JRE’s management policies or management structures following the change in shareholder. In addition to the development capabilities and operational expertise for renewable energy generation facilities that JRE has amassed to date, JRE will make use of the knowledge and networks possessed by ENEOS, Japan’s largest energy company, as it continues to advance the use of renewable energy, contribute to local communities, and realize a decarbonized society.
